(Tomasz "Korcer" Jaburczak's Pure Techology for instance only has one command where this happens, and it uses AOT counting for this.) Many hacks require you to know ahead of time how many pieces of a key you will need. In some hacks, the count has to be done within a specific amount of time, such as in Ultima 7 for DOS, where you cannot complete the Hack for more than five minutes. There are other hacks that are intentionally impossible (for instance, Ultima 7 for DOS, which requires that you have a certain count of each piece of the key within a very specific amount of time).
